

SINGLE AND FED UP MARRIAGE INQUIRIES?

Man why are not married?

There is nothing wrong with you, any girl would be lucky to marry someone like you!

You should get married soon so you would have enough time for kids!

You need to complete your Deen as soon as possible!

This is what I hear every time wherever I go, every time people ask is about marriage.

I am wondering why is so hard for everyone to digest that marriage is very personal decision and not a timeline goal that needs to be completed before a boy or girl turns 25,30 or 40?

Marriage is something deeply and absolutely divine for me. It goes way beyond fancy dresses, candid photography, and marrying someone who is well settled, well educated, beautiful, gorgeous.

I personally and firmly believe that marriage is an union that written and decreed by Allah Almighty and will happen when it is meant to happen- not one day before and not one day after.

The purpose of our life is to worship Allah Almighty and there are different routes to that purpose. Marriage can be just one of them.

Next time when we question someone about marriage learn to be sensitive and please understand marriage is not the complete purpose of a Muslim`s life.

We forgot Marriage is Sunnah and it becomes Fard only when you start indulging Haram acts.

Marriage is big commitment and we need to make it with someone who we understand and believe we can live a happy life with.

Marriage is not something that should be forced on anyone either directly or indirectly. A person who is not happy and content single will never magically start being happy and content after marriage. Rather he or she will destroy the life of their spouse and partner.

If you ever ask me about marriage I would definitely suggest you to marry as marriage is beautiful and an important sunnah of our beloved prophet ( peace and be blessings be upon him) but more importantly is should be with right spouse and right partner at the right time. Marriage is the best experience to have in your life if we do it with right spouse at the right time.

Brothers and sisters! We should marry for right reasons to get closer to Allah alone not for the sake of this temporary Duniya.

Our Deen is HUGEEEE! And there is place in our Deen for everyone. Being Father or Mother and Husband or Wife is not the sole duties of a Muslim in our Deen. We can be single and can be happy and we can be married and can be happy.
